BIOGRAPHY

Kari Orvik was born in Kingston, Ontario, Canada and lives and works in San Francisco. Her work focuses on memory and change over time through the historical photographic process of wet plate collodion. A graduate of Stanford University with an MFA from University of California, Berkeley, Orvik's work has been featured on the cover of San Francisco Magazine, and in exhibitions at the Berkeley Art Museum and the Headlands Center for the Arts, where she was a graduate fellow. A former studio photographer at Photobooth SF, she currently operates her tintype portrait studio in San Francisco.
